HOW YES WORKS

There are two ways to offer these life-changing work experiences to youth:

Option 1 - Inside your business

Provide a 12-month work experience within your company.

Option 2 - A turnkey solution; host youth at an existing supply chain partner, SME, or NGO

Sponsor the placement of YES candidates in third-party enterprises. YES has a range of high-impact social partners across the country in communities where jobs are needed.

Alternatively, you can claim Socio-Economic Development points and/or Donation spend by contributing to YES Hubs.

DO YOU QUALIFY FOR THE YES INITIATIVE?

- Even with limited or no Black Ownership, you can qualify for a YES Level Up. Multinationals and family-owned businesses with no Black Ownership can make up for it with higher ESD and Skills points and participate meaningfully in B-BBEE.
- Have a powerful B-BBEE impact and an impressive scorecard. All you need is to meet the sub-minimums. For Generic Entities with a total revenue of more than R50 million, a 50% average is required across all three priority elements or a 40% sub-minimum in three priority elements.
- Qualifying Small Entities (QSEs) with a total revenue of R10 million - R50 million, will require 40% in two of three priority elements, with Ownership being one of the two elements. Alternatively, QSEs will need a 40% average across two priority elements with Ownership being one of them.
- For Exempted Micro Enterprises with a total revenue of less than R10 million, no sub-minimum eligibility is required.
- The dtic has offered a concession to businesses that are in their first year of participation in the YES programme. If an organisation contracts their youth before their financial year-end, they can receive their level up(s) in the same year.
 - Only a 2,5% absorption rate is required to move one level up, while 5% will apply to move two levels up. Other details and terms are applicable.
