

Carlotta Cosulich
IQVIA

Carlotta is a Senior Consultant within IQVIA's Global Commercial Compliance team. A pharmacist by training, she brings over seven years of consulting experience in the life sciences industry, spanning market access, regulatory and quality, and healthcare compliance. Her work focuses on optimizing global compliance processes, embedding risk controls, and operationalizing legal and compliance requirements across different geographies. She supports clients in designing and optimizing compliant processes for HCP engagements. Carlotta has also worked extensively with medical devices and digital health technologies, including software classified as medical devices.

Prior to joining IQVIA, Carlotta's consulting experience focused on regulatory affairs and compliance for MedTech clients, and supporting commercial launch strategies and market access initiatives.
